To whom to may concern,

The Saskatoon Engineering Society is pleased to announce that SaskatoonTechnicalEvents.com is ready for public use. SaskatoonTechnicalEvents.com is a website initiative of the Saskatoon Engineering Society. It displays events of interest for technical professionals happening in Saskatoon. It aims to help event organizers to plan better-attended events and event attendees to find good events.

For organizers, this website offers a better view of the different technical events happening in the city. It helps the organizers to select better event dates. Organizers can also submit their to this website to make other organizers aware of their events.

For event attendees, this website is a place to discover professional development opportunities and networking events.

The Saskatoon Engineering Society has a mandate to advance the engineering profession and related societies by assisting in information exchange between Society members and the Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of Saskatchewan (APEGS) Council by acting as a local agent and focal point to promote matters pertaining to the education and awareness of the profession. We hope this event website will help expand technical communities and prepare a better workforce for the future. Please check out the website, and consider promoting your next events on this no-cost site.

If you have any feedback after using the website, we are happy to hear from you,

Kai Li, P.Eng.
President 2019-2020
